

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

WADSWORTH, OHIO – (July 18, 2016)

Rohrer Corporation has announced the acquisition of CardPak Inc, based in Solon, OH on July 18, 2016. The acquisition of CardPak increases Rohrer’s presence as a leader in the packaging industry by adding expanded printing, coating, and thermoforming capabilities.

“Under the ownership of Rick and Lisa Thomas, the CardPak team has built a world-class packaging provider focused on the needs of their customers. We sincerely welcome the associates from CardPak and look forward to joining together to integrate and build a combined company that routinely exceeds the expectations of our customers,” added Steve Wirrig, Rohrer’s CEO.

Rohrer is a leader in the industry because of our dedication to our customers, state-of-the-art technology, green practices, and nation-wide facilities. CardPak’s embodiment of these same qualities makes this the perfect union. The Solon, OH and Aurora, OH facilities will operate under the Rohrer name and will support Rohrer’s commitment to innovative, quality products and industry leading customer service.

About Rohrer Corporation

Founded in 1973, Rohrer is a recognized leader in the blister / skin printed packaging and thermoformed packaging markets. The company offers innovative, high-visibility packaging solutions through a broad range of printed and plastic products to a large, diversified base of consumer product companies. Rohrer’s operations now consist of seven strategically located manufacturing facilities in Wadsworth, OH; Buford, GA; Huntley, IL; Lewistown, PA; Mesa AZ; Solon, OH; and Aurora, OH.

Contact:

Jennifer Wozny, Marketing Communications Manager

jwozny@rohrer.com

717 Seville Road

Wadsworth, OH 44281

330.335.1541

###